I want to start by thanking everyone for their support and confidence in allowing me the privilege to serve as your president this year. On January 12, 2020 we will be meeting at The Yale Club in Manhattan in celebration of the installation of our 2020 officers and in celebration of Second District Dental Society (SDDS). We will celebrate all that our dental component has accomplished and will look into the current year and the future of our organization.

I cannot stress enough the importance of our volunteers working tirelessly at the Greater New York Dental Meeting (GNYDM). Working in conjunction with New York County Dental Society (NYCDS), I have seen the greatest dental meeting evolve and more importantly, adjust to the many challenges we see in dentistry and at other meetings throughout the country and the world. Thank you to the GNYDM Executive Director Dr. Robert Edwab, and especially to Dr. Lauro Medrano-Saldaña, the immediate past general chairman of the GNYDM, for making our Meeting stand above all the rest and implementing new ideas in an ever-changing environment.

The Greater New York Dental Meeting (GNYDM) thanks you for making the GNYDM the largest dental event in the United States. At its 95th annual session in 2019 from Nov. 29 through Dec. 4, there were 52,614 attendees from all 50 states and 156 countries, including 19,758 dentists. This year’s event reached a significant milestone with 13,458 international attendees. This record-breaking number is the largest ever for a U.S. meeting. Also, the GNYDM registered 2,592 dental students, 3,835 dental assistants and 3,705 dental hygienists. With a total attendance of 52,614, the GNYDM continues to be the largest dental convention and event in the United States.

The GNYDM hopes that you were able to take the opportunity to make new friends, renew old acquaintanceships and make new contacts with decision-makers and partners for your continued success. The exhibit floor was packed with special discounts and giveaways. Professionals roamed aisle after aisle and visited over 1,600 exhibit booths and over 650 companies. The GNYDM’s creativity paid dividends for exhibitors and attendees with a raffle on Wednesday, Dec. 4 offering eight $250 golden tickets for attendees to spend on dental products and equipment. It was a great week of business, learning and networking.

Education at the GNYDM included 350+ seminars, hands-on workshops and essays, with programs in Spanish, French, Korean and Russian. There was also a designated workshop room for live Portuguese translation for all morning and afternoon sessions held in that specific room.

The GNYDM included a free health screening fair on Sunday, Dec. 1, including body mass index, diabetes education, oral cancer screening, caries screening, hearing screening, blood pressure tests, vision screening, flu shots, pneumonia vaccination and shingles vaccination. The fair was open to numerous private sectors and to the public who needed care.

With seven specialty meetings and expanding with new visions for a special needs program, the GNYDM gives other dental shows a run for their money, including a World Implant EXPO, Global Orthodontic Conference, Pediatric Dentistry Summit, Sleep Apnea Symposium, 3D Printing & Digital Dentistry Conference and Public Health Symposium. The specialty meetings each continue to increase attendance and revenue for the GNYDM as they welcome world-renowned clinicians to New York City. Seminars and hands-on workshops were offered daily with over 70 different specialty options.

New to the 2019 GNYDM was the expanded nurses’ program with a collaborative effort to train nurses about proper oral health and the importance of nurses referring patients to dentists for yearly checkups as part of overall health care. The GNYDM hopes to continue this program in 2020.

As the holiday season is a time for giving and helping others, the GNYDM once again hosted the “Greater New York Smiles” fun and child-friendly program. The GNYDM, along with Colgate and DentaQuest, helped teach 1,500 NYC public school children about the importance of proper oral health.

The 2019 GNYDM celebrity luncheon featured John Quiñones, who combined a moving life story, an exceptional career, incomparable insights and a powerful presence on the dais along with dignitaries from around the world.

The GNYDM Organization Committee works tirelessly throughout the year to ensure the Happy New Year 2020! SDDS has a Vision

by STUART L. SEGELNICK, D.D.S., M.S., SDDS BULLETIN EDITOR

Break out the champagne and let’s toast together for another happy and healthy year! As I write this article less than a month before the end of 2019, I’m already excited to don my 2020 New Year’s glasses and watch the countdown across the world. Fireworks and wonderful music shared with friends and family are well worth the yearly wait. Being able to see precisely the television screen, or at least sharply and accurately from 20 feet away, is another blessing. Most people I know are wearing contacts, glasses and loupes to help their sight. Eyesight, especially in the practice of dentistry, is critical. Twice in my life I have scratched my cornea and had to wear a patch over my eye until it healed. The second time I sustained this injury was in dental school when I was preparing a tooth in the lab and a shard of enamel shot off under my glasses and into my eye. I didn’t know what to do and my instructor said to go to the oral surgery department for some guidance. I went and one of the oral surgery residents examined my eye and then extracted the tooth fragment. He said it must have been the “eye tooth” I was working on, laughed and immediately sent me to a local ophthalmologist. The eye doctor was a little surprised that the oral surgeon resident removed the tooth fragment and after his examination diagnosed a scratched cornea. He then patched my eye and as I recall, gave me some antibiotic drops to drip into it. Going to dental school the next day looking like a pirate was not easy, nor was driving home with only one eye. Today, eye patches for corneal abrasions are not recommended. Needless to say, I bought myself a pair of safety glasses afterward which provided increased protection.

Resting your eyes and seeing your eye doctor regularly is important for good eye health and good vision, as is safely protecting your eyes from the everyday possible eye hazards such as light curing units, lasers and splatter. Second District Dental Society (SDDS) has a clear vision of who we are and what we stand for. Some visionary activities SDDS has accomplished recently were our loan forgiveness grants, which helped many dentists just starting...

ADA Membership eCards

Starting January 2020, the American Dental Association (ADA) will cease sending members physical ADA cards upon renewal of their membership, and will instead provide access to digital membership cards via its website, ADA.org. Following are some helpful FAQs the ADA has compiled to address questions members may have about this transition.

Why is the ADA switching to eCards?
» Digital membership cards are convenient. They allow you to access your card anytime, anywhere.
» The digital cards can’t be lost or stolen – they’re always available to you online.
» By not printing physical cards, we reduce waste.

Where do I find my membership card now?
Your membership card is available whenever you need it in your MyADA profile on ADA.org.
» Log in to ADA.org/MyADA
» Click the gray box labeled “My Membership Card”
» Now you should be able to view your card
» For desktop access: Click “Print member card” located at the top of the screen to print your card.
» For smartphone access: Click the “Add to Wallet” button at the top of the screen, then click “Add” in the upper right to save it to your phone’s virtual wallet.

Will I still get my physical membership card in the mail?
No, we are no longer mailing out physical membership cards.

I still want a physical card. What are my options?
You have the option to print your membership card.
» Log in to ADA.org/MyADA
» Click the gray box labeled “Print Membership Card” (last box on second row)
» Click “Print” to print your card.
» If you’re having trouble accessing your card, contact the ADA at (800) 621-8099 or membership@ada.org; they can help print it for you and mail it.

Will I still receive my membership window decal?
Yes, your ADA membership window decal will still be mailed to you.

I’m a new member, why might I need my membership card?
Member cards are often used to verify your ADA member number at state and local dental society events. You also need your ADA member number to register for CE, receive discounts on purchases from the ADA Store and access more of your ADA member benefits.

QUESTIONS?
Contact the ADA membership team at (800) 621-8099 or membership@ada.org.

The topic of this article concerns itself with the physical fitness of dentists and other dental personnel. The Google definition of dentist is “a person qualified to treat the diseases and conditions that affect the teeth and gums, especially the repair and extraction of teeth and the insertion of artificial ones.” Now why did I write a definition of what all of this reading audience is intimately familiar with? Because all of us know what we do but many of us do not know how to keep ourselves in shape so that we can do this job for long periods of time.

As we get older we all wake up with numerous aches and pains and we would like to feel the way we did when we were much younger. Well then how do we get ourselves in good physical shape?

There are numerous health advantages to physical fitness. Regular exercise and physical activity promote strong muscles and bones. It improves respiratory, cardiovascular and overall health. Staying active can also help you maintain a healthy weight and reduce your risk for type 2 diabetes, heart disease and some cancers. In other words, staying active is a crucial part of maintaining good health and wellness. A study was published in 2016 reporting on a questionnaire survey of 365 respondents, all of whom were practicing dentists, in Hyderabad City, India. In this study, 60.7% of the study group were classified as active (moderate and high), with activity at work and commuting activity being the main contributors to total physical activity. The World Health Organization defines health as a state of complete physical, mental and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity.

The prevalence of physical activity in the aforementioned study was significantly shown by males, which included activity at work and recreational activity. Female dentists mostly were involved in commuting activity and it was also observed with a decrease in physical activity with increasing age.

Now what does this all mean to dentists in general? Stay in as good shape as possible to stave off injuries. As we get older, we are more prone to injury and have less mobility and more restrictions on what we can do. Practicing dentistry is a really difficult physical endeavor and for us to make a living from performing clinical dentistry, we have to be at our best chairside. In reviewing the data from the previously referenced study, it is incredibly important for all of us to stay physically active in the course of our careers. We can serve our patients better if we stay in shape. Also, the longer that our careers are, the more money we make just through the increased length of time that we practice dentistry.

So, the more you can stay in good physical shape, the longer you can practice and not only is there a financial incentive, but we can continue to do what we enjoy and help our society maintain their dental health.

Happy New Year 2020!

Out pay back their student loan debt. SDDS awarded around $200,000 last year and plans to award even more this year depending on the number of respondents. Last year we saw our Greater New York Dental Meeting continue to shine and it still holds the title of largest dental meeting in the nation. Our continuing education programs, along with so many other amazing benefits, are why our members are so pleased. Although SDDS is doing an excellent job, we need to continue to adapt to the changing landscape of federal and state laws, as well as local rules and regulations, and maintain our short- and long-term vision.

As we concentrate on our lives it is easy to have narrow vision and not notice our surroundings in the dental world, which is why we need organizations such as the ADA, New York State Dental Association and SDDS to continue monitoring the moment and being proactive for the benefit of our patients, society and our members. I hope to see everyone at this year’s SDDS Installation of Officers and Awards Luncheon at The Yale Club of New York City on January 12, 2020. It should be quite a view!
The GNYDM Exceeds Expectations in 2019

Meeting's success. In 2019, the Meeting continued its success with the leadership of then General Chairman Dr. Lauro Medrano-Saldana and then General Chairman Elect Dr. James Doundoulakis, along with the Second District Dental Society (SDDS) chairs on the committee Drs. Michael Cali, William Bongiorno, Lorna Flam er-Caldera, Paul Teplitsky and 2020 Incoming Committee Chair Dr. Ian Lerner. Of course, additional thanks for allowing the Meeting to run smoothly and effortlessly must go to the countless SDDS member volunteers who were a part of the many subcommittees.

While the Meeting is a wonderful achievement, the GNYDM is acutely aware that it is close friends such as you that make its accomplishment special. The warmth and collegiality shared by the GNYDM family, create an atmosphere often not evident at other venues. The GNYDM’s achievements always translate to financial achievements for the SDDS; it is through the GNYDM that the SDDS has been able to continue its long tradition of low-cost, high-quality continuing education and member services.

As the number of dentists, hygienists, and assistants continues to grow, the GNYDM works to expand its educational programs and sales opportunities for attendees and exhibitors in 2020.

CPR & Medical Emergencies in the Dental Office

MICHAEL KALIROFF
Certified Instructor, American Heart Association

This course provides dentists and their staff members with the knowledge and skills needed to properly respond to cardiopulmonary and other medical emergencies which can occur in dental offices. The specific advantages and disadvantages of performing CPR within the dental operatory will be discussed. This program utilizes hands-on practice sessions for all participants. Topics to be covered will include heart attacks and strokes (signs and symptoms), sudden cardiac arrest/defibrillation, airway obstruction (choking), respiratory emergencies, anaphylactic reactions, emergency drug kits, and more.

Upon successful completion of this course, participants will gain the knowledge and hands-on experience needed to administer CPR safely and effectively. Completion of this course will also satisfy the New York State Education Department’s requirement for licensed dentists.*

This course may not fulfill the CPR certification requirements for staff/faculty of some hospitals/universities. Check with your institution before taking this course.

ENROLLMENT IS LIMITED, SO REGISTER EARLY!!!

Diagnosis and Treatment of Oral Mucosal Lesions

Featured Clinician: DAVID J. ZEGARELLI, D.D.S.
Professor Emeritus, Columbia University College of Dental Medicine

There will be a brief introduction describing the oral pathologist’s background education, role and how this impacts the diagnosis and treatment of mucosal lesions. Following the introduction, roughly equal time (about one hour) will be given to the following six topics: the burning mouth patient; biopsy procedures of oral mucosal lesions; red, white and blue lesions of the oral mucosa, and oral cancer. Questions from attendees are encouraged during the entire presentation.

Within the topic of a burning mouth, the following entities will be covered: candidiasis, burning mouth syndrome, pernicious anemia, diabetes mellitus, geographic tongue and others. The oral biopsy technique segment will concentrate on choosing the most appropriate site to biopsy, the length, width and depth of the biopsy and the appropriate size of the excised tissue, as well as filling out and sending the specimen. The red, white and blue portion of this presentation is actually three segments in one emphasizing lesions having those colorations. They range from pre-cancerous lesions such as epithelial dysplasia through erythema multiforme, from lichen planus through pemphigus vulgaris, from hemangiomas through mucoceles, and many, many more.

Finally, there will be a lengthy presentation on oral cancer. Mostly, this segment will emphasize pre-cancerous lesions of epithelial dysplasia through invasive squamous cell carcinoma. Clinical features will be emphasized, such as coloration and texture. Other malignancies will also be described, such as Kaposi’s sarcoma and metastatic tumor. Upon successful completion of this course, attendees will have improved their ability to diagnose and treat most common and many rare oral mucosal lesions and diseases. Also, the attendee will know how to biopsy the aforementioned lesions.

Demystifying Intraoral Photography: What You Need to Know

Clinical Instructor of Cariology and Comprehensive Care, New York University College of Dentistry

Depending on the objectives of the photography, specific criteria will be discussed including lenses, use of these lenses, cameras, sensor size, principles of depth of field and changes that have to be made depending on use. This lecture is useful for those that are publishing, documenting or marketing.

There are many different kinds of cameras that are used in intraoral photography. Some expensive options are not necessary and less expensive cameras can be used. Others, depending on use, may be more. In addition, the accessories needed to produce great intra-orally photographs will be described, including retractors, mirrors and contrast accessories. Upon successful completion of this presentation, attendees will learn how to choose an intraoral camera and will understand the principles of digital intraoral photography.
